Blended Learning Coaching Academy

Presented by
DSD Professional Development

Overview of the Online Six Week Course:

Participants in the “Blended Learning Coaching Academy” will be asked to participate in the on going discussion about how to implement the blended learning model into the school district, school, and classroom. The “Blended Learning Coaching Academy” will meet at the start of each month to reflect on the progress of the blended learning implementation as well as focusing on becoming a well rounded blended learning coach.

Course objectives: The participants in the “Blended learning Coaching Academy” course will be able to

- understand the definition of blended learning
- define the three phases of blended learning
- create sample lesson plans for the three phases of blended learning
- collaborate with other educators on the development of the blended learning rubric
- develop a blended learning classroom rubric to use as a blended learning coach
- examine possible blended learning coaching examples
- comparing the growth mindset to fixed mindset
- using the growth mindset examples to help move educators forward through the blended learning process
- developing a technology toolbox to use while coaching educators
- creating an organizational plan for the coaching process

Who Should Take the Course?

The Blended Learning Coaching Academy focuses in on the train the trainer model. Participants will learn how to coach and support educators through the blended learning process. Each participant will walk away with a game plan on how to deploy the blended learning program in the classroom, rubrics to help gage the blended learning process, as well as a coaching notebook to use with the information from the Blended Learning Coaching Academy.
